Gem of a Diamond Jubilee celebration

By NAFEESA SHAN

Thousands celebrated the Queen's Diamond Jubilee at weekend parties across East Lancashire.

When the rain came, some were moved indoors, while others were salvaged when communities pulled together and found gazebos and marquees in which to shelter.

Party-goers at dozens of events showed it takes more than a downpour to stop them having fun.

One of the biggest events was in Blackburn's New Bank Road on Sunday, where 700 people got stuck into the festivities.

There were also major events in Nelson, Mercer Park, in Clayton-le-Moors, and Darwen, and countless parties in neighbourhoods in every one of our towns.

Volunteers at Ivy Street Community Centre, Blackburn, put an emergency plan in place after they woke to downpours on

East Lancs gets into party spirit

Sunday. After making 250 Jubilee-inspired lunchboxes with sandwiches and drinks to be eaten on tables outdoors, they pulled the tables into the centre to ensure everyone would enjoy the festivities.

Christine Connell, chairman of Ivy Street Community Centre, said: "It has been fantastic. The children have got into the spirit of the Jubilee.

"We're really pleased because, despite the weather, everyone has turned up."

Pat Egan, managing director of Places for People which has provided funding for the centre, said: "None of this would have been possible without the great work of volunteers at the centre."

Thousands turn out for Jubilee festivities

Volunteers Mandy Wilcock and Aimee Joyce had worked from 8pm on Saturday to 9am on Sunday to kit the centre out with flags, bunting and Jubilee-inspired decorations.

Michael Johnston, 28, and Patricia Cocker, 61, were prepared for the bad weather and had already hired a marquee as a precaution.

Their party, in Bradda Road, Blackburn, had a tribute table to the Queen, with 73 red, white and blue miniature fairy cakes marking her reign from 1952-2012 and a flag-shaped sponge cake in the royal colours.

Patricia said: "It has been a right royal success despite the weather."

They drank sherry and sang God Save the Queen at 3pm as part of their celebrations.

At one of the biggest parties of the weekend, in New Bank Road, organiser Noreen Hameed said: "We didn't let the rain stop us. We found gazebos and moved some activities indoors and it has been really busy. It's been fantastic."

At Railton Avenue, in Blackburn, organiser Darren Daykin said: "I wanted to bring the community together, particular now, because there is so much misery around at the moment."

HOME COMFORT: Jason Wakeling and his micro-brewery in his kitchen in Darwen

Buzzard beer ready to fly

A REAL ale lover has turned his hobby into a money spinner by setting up a brewery – in his kitchen.

Jason Wakeling has followed in the footsteps of Darwen micro-breweries Hopstar and Fallon's, by setting up Blue Buzzard.

So far, it's little more than a home-brewing set-up, but after being granted a licence to sell his beer he has high hopes for the future.

And Blue Buzzard ales have been seen at festivals across the North West and in a Darwen pub, with pale ale Supernova proving popular.

Mr Wakeling, 41, who runs the brewery from his home in Joseph Street, said: "It all started in my kitchen with a home-brew kit. I read up and bought some proper equipment and gradually built it up. Then I got my licence and it all became very real."

Mr Wakeling, who works in IT at CMS Group in Blackburn, said he could only brew to order: "At best I can brew nine gallons, which is a quarter of a barrel. I am still learning and getting to grips with certain technicalities. It's probably just one up from what the average home brewer could use, but I have the licence to sell my beer and make money."

Blue Buzzard ales have been sold at Clitheroe, Pendle and Lytham beer festivals, as well as the Number 39 Hopstar Brewery Tap in Bridge Street.

To contact Mr Wakeling and to order ales, email brewery@bluebuzzards.com.

Boost for old folk's charity

By DAISY KINCAID

AN East Lancashire charity which handles thousands of calls each year has received a massive grant so it can continue its vital work.

Age UK Blackburn with Darwen has been awarded £54,689 from the Office of Civil Society via the Big Lottery Fund for its advice and information service for older people.

The charity receives more than 5,500 enquiries a year and provides free advice for older people and their carers.

It anticipates an even busier year ahead with changes to services and benefits.

The charity needs to raise £115,000 a year to provide the service across Blackburn with Darwen and be able to continue to provide office services and home visits to the most frail older people. It still needs to find £46,000 this year.

The money has been awarded to services that have had funding from other sources reduced or with-drawn.

Pauline Walsh, chief officer, said she was delighted the cash had been secured.

She said: "We know many of our users could not manage to access services and entitlements without our support and this service is our priority.

"We still have a lot to raise to maintain the service this year, but this is an excellent start. All support for this service is much appreciated.

"Our users tell us how valuable this service is to them. As one recent user commented, 'The help given has made a great difference to my life, I now don't have to worry'."

Anyone who wants to use the advice and information service, or make a donation, should call the Blackburn office on 01254 266620 or the Darwen office on 01254 773440.

Local 'Olympics' a games for all

By NAFEESA SHAN

Blackburn with Darwen will be hosting its very own 'Olympic' games this summer.

The re:fresh2012 festival, which was launched last week, will see more than 40 events taking place all around the borough throughout the summer.

The activities are being organised by local clubs and community groups in a bid to build on the excitement, and enthusiasm, surrounding the London 2012 Olympic Games.

Events will include everything from a Darwen Rangers football tournament for youngsters, to a dad's Olympics at Little Harwood Children's Centre.

On July 20, Blackburn will welcome the Linford Christie's Street Athletics scheme to the town, which will see King William Street turned into a race track to encourage young people to give athletics a go.

From August 6 to 8, Blackburn Harriers will also host a multi-sports StarTrack event at Witton Park.

The club, which has produced three Olympic hopefuls, is inviting eight to 15-year-olds along to develop their skills.

Executive member for leisure and culture, Coun Damian Talbot, said: "This is our opportunity to make the most of the enthusiasm around sport that the 2012 Olympics is generating.

"People all over the borough are joining clubs, or doing sport and exercise.

"And we want to celebrate that, and encourage even more people to get involved."

Last year attendance at the borough's leisure clubs was up by more than 13,000.

And more than 10,000 new people applied for a beeZ card, which allows them to enjoy free leisure facilities.

Chairman of the Blackburn with Darwen clinical commissioning group, Dr Chris Clayton, said: "Boosting levels of activity brings with it a huge amount of health benefits and can prevent anything from heart disease to diabetes.

"Not only that, but getting out and making friends and socialising can do wonders for someone's mental health, and general wellbeing."

Peas ad girl is 'pop' star again

Actress Patsy Kensit chats to Roger Crow about Hollywood movies, her pop career and returning to the campaign that helped make her a star.

YOU'RE PROMOTING BIRDS EYE PEAS AGAIN. WHAT DO YOU REMEMBER ABOUT BEING THE FACE OF THE TV ADS 40 YEARS AGO? I did several ads for Birds Eye; I started working with them at four-and-a-half until the age of 12. It was in the Seventies and in those days the young directors were doing commercials, then they went to the States and became massive movie directors. Adrian Lyne, who did Fatal Attraction was one, and Tony Scott, Ridley Scott. I worked with all these guys.

YOU HAD AN AMAZING START AS A CHILD ACTRESS WORKING WITH ROBERT REDFORD ON THE GREAT GATSBY... Yes, then soon after that the Birds Eye thing happened. Then I went to Russia and did a film, The Blue Bird, with Elizabeth Taylor and Ava Gardner. I came back and started working at the BBC and then the Royal Shakespeare Company. I've worked every year of my life since I was four. I wouldn't want it for my kids but for me it was an amazing opportunity. I came from a very poor background and I completely created this incredible life.

60 SECONDS WITH ... PATSY KENSIT

WHAT ARE YOUR MEMORIES OF BEING A CHART STAR WITH EIGHTH WONDER? I love music and it was a great experience, but it was something that I was never going to become really good at. I couldn't really sing that well. Though I have a great passion for music, I knew I wasn't going to improve.

WAS IT A CULTURE SHOCK WORKING IN HOLLYWOOD? It was a big deal. I was flown to the States by Disney when I was 13 or 14. I did Pollyanna for the Disney Channel, a remake of the Hayley Mills film. My dream was that it was going to be like the MGM studios, like those musicals, and it really wasn't.

Choir 'hits' the note

By JOHN ANSON

CHARITY CONCERT: The Manchester Show Choir

One of the region's biggest choirs, with a number of members from East Lancashire, will be performing a special charity concert at Manchester's Palace Theatre this month.

The 120-strong Manchester Show Choir will be presenting Choir Anthems, in aid of The Christie Hospital, featuring contemporary songs, including Chasing Cars, Hey Jude, Fix You, and Rule the World, as you have never heard them before

The choir, formed three years ago specifically to raise money for The Christie Hospital, has made a number of TV appearances including Britain's Got Talent, Shameless, and Don't Stop Believing.

Among those taking part is professional photographer Karen Howard, 46, from Rawtenstall.

Karen, who joined the group two years ago, said: "I am already starting to get nervous.

"We are on in a few weeks and are rehearsing every week to make sure we know all of our harmonies!"

The choir have made many famous friends over the past three years, and creative director Daniel Wood is promising some surprise guests at the concert.

He said: "In the past we have been joined by some fabulous singers and celebs. We are just finalising our celebrity guests for this show, but we promise that Choir Anthems will be our most impressive show yet."

■ Choir Anthems, Palace Theatre, Manchester, Saturday, June 30. Details from 0844 871 3019.
